				32 nm from Takhli. The aircraft continued on autopilot and unfortunately crashed into a small village NW of Takhli, killing all of the residents (17) of the village with the exception of the Chief who had just left, but witnessed the crash. I was taken prisoner by a group of primitive villagers wearing loin cloths and living in grass huts. They had spears and blow guns. I was greatly outnumbered, so I tried to befriend them by giving them gifts of everything I had on me. It seemed to work. In a couple of hours, a rescue helicopter dropped down and I took-off running, dove into the open door and off we went. I didn't look back to see if they were throwing spears at me. I then directed the chopper to pick up the five other crew members who were dispersed in the jungle. Everyone was okay and when we landed, we celebrated hardily. An inspection of all the KB-50J aircraft at the base revealed that the planes had been sabotaged by cutting the fuel lines. Security had been very lax up to then. Recognizing that the KB-50J was too old and too slow to refuel the current jet fighters, the aircraft and the Sqdn. were decommissioned."

Pilot 1st Lt. Theodore H. Demezas bailed out Note: Lt. Buntao Punsri operated a flak gun wagon at Lampang Station and claimed to have shot down a P-38. The pilot, Demezas, bailed out successfully and, as RTAF was living a 'double-life' during the war, the gunner tried to locate the pilot to render some help. However, the RTA was the first to reach the scene and captured the pilot. Lt. Col. Sarit Tanarat, the army commander, sent Demezas to the Thai underground, Thosd Panthumasen, at a sugar factory near Koh Ka. Apparently, Demezas was sent back to his Sqdn. sometime after the incident)
